WORCESTER STATE COLLEGE

WORCESTER, MASSACHUSETTS

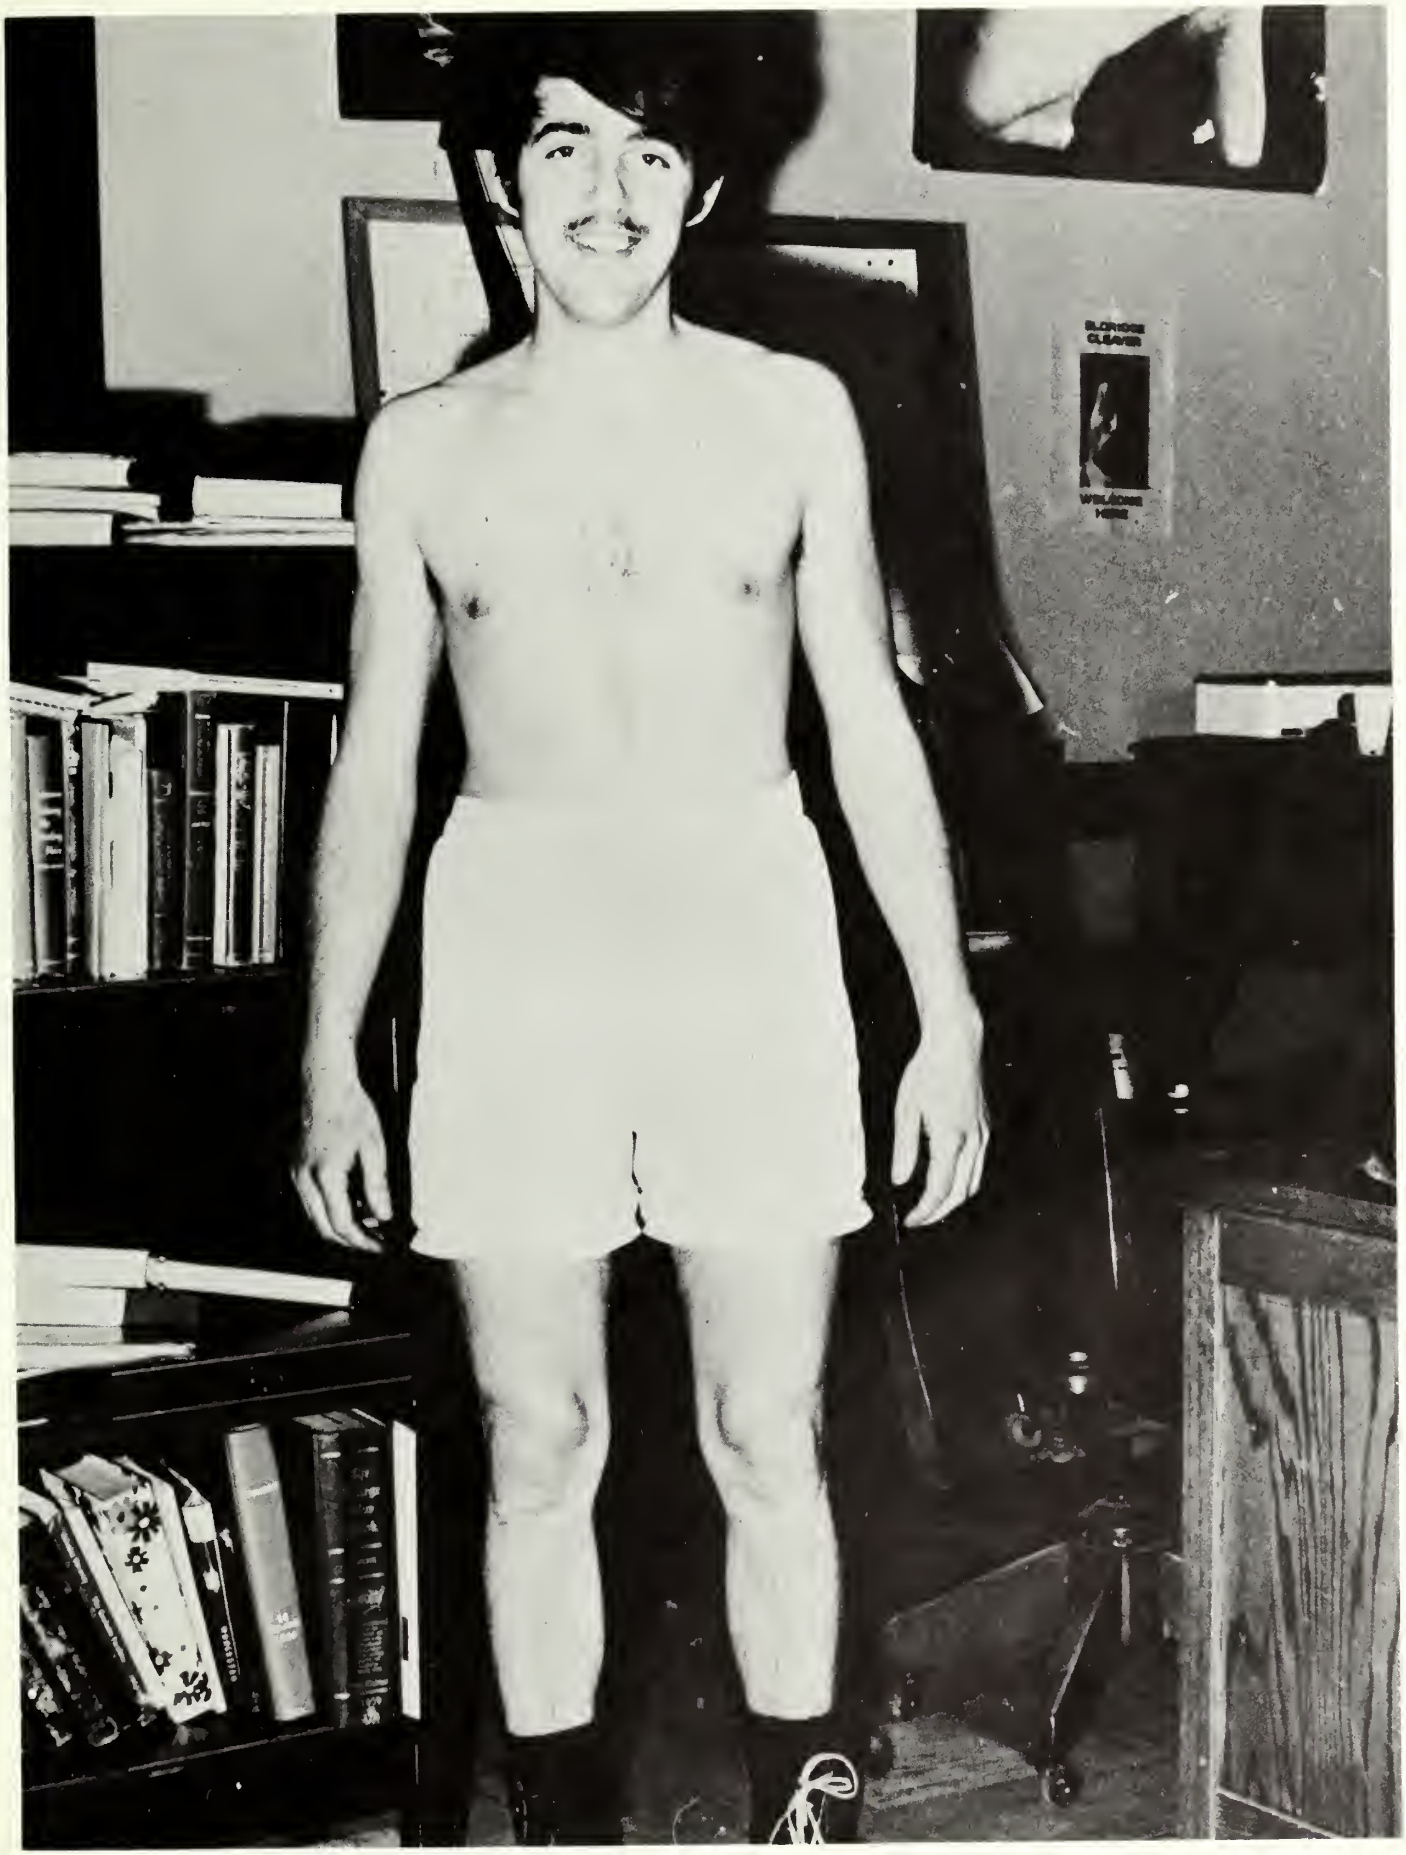
CLASS OF 1969

Time it was,
and what a time it was,
It was ...
a time of innocence,
a time of confidences.
Long ago ...
It must be ...
I have a photograph.
Preserve your memories;
They're all that's left you.

Paul Simon

Let's go
Come on
Let's go
Empty out our pockets
and disappear.
Missing all our appointments
and turning up unshaven
years later
old cigarette papers
stuck in our pants
leaves in our hair.

Lawrence Ferlinghetti



crowds of collegians
all talking and talking
and walking around
or hanging out windows
to see what's doing
out in the world
where everything happens
sooner or later
if it happens at all

Lawrence Ferlinghetti

and the long street
which is the longest street
in all the world
but which isn't as long as it seems passes on

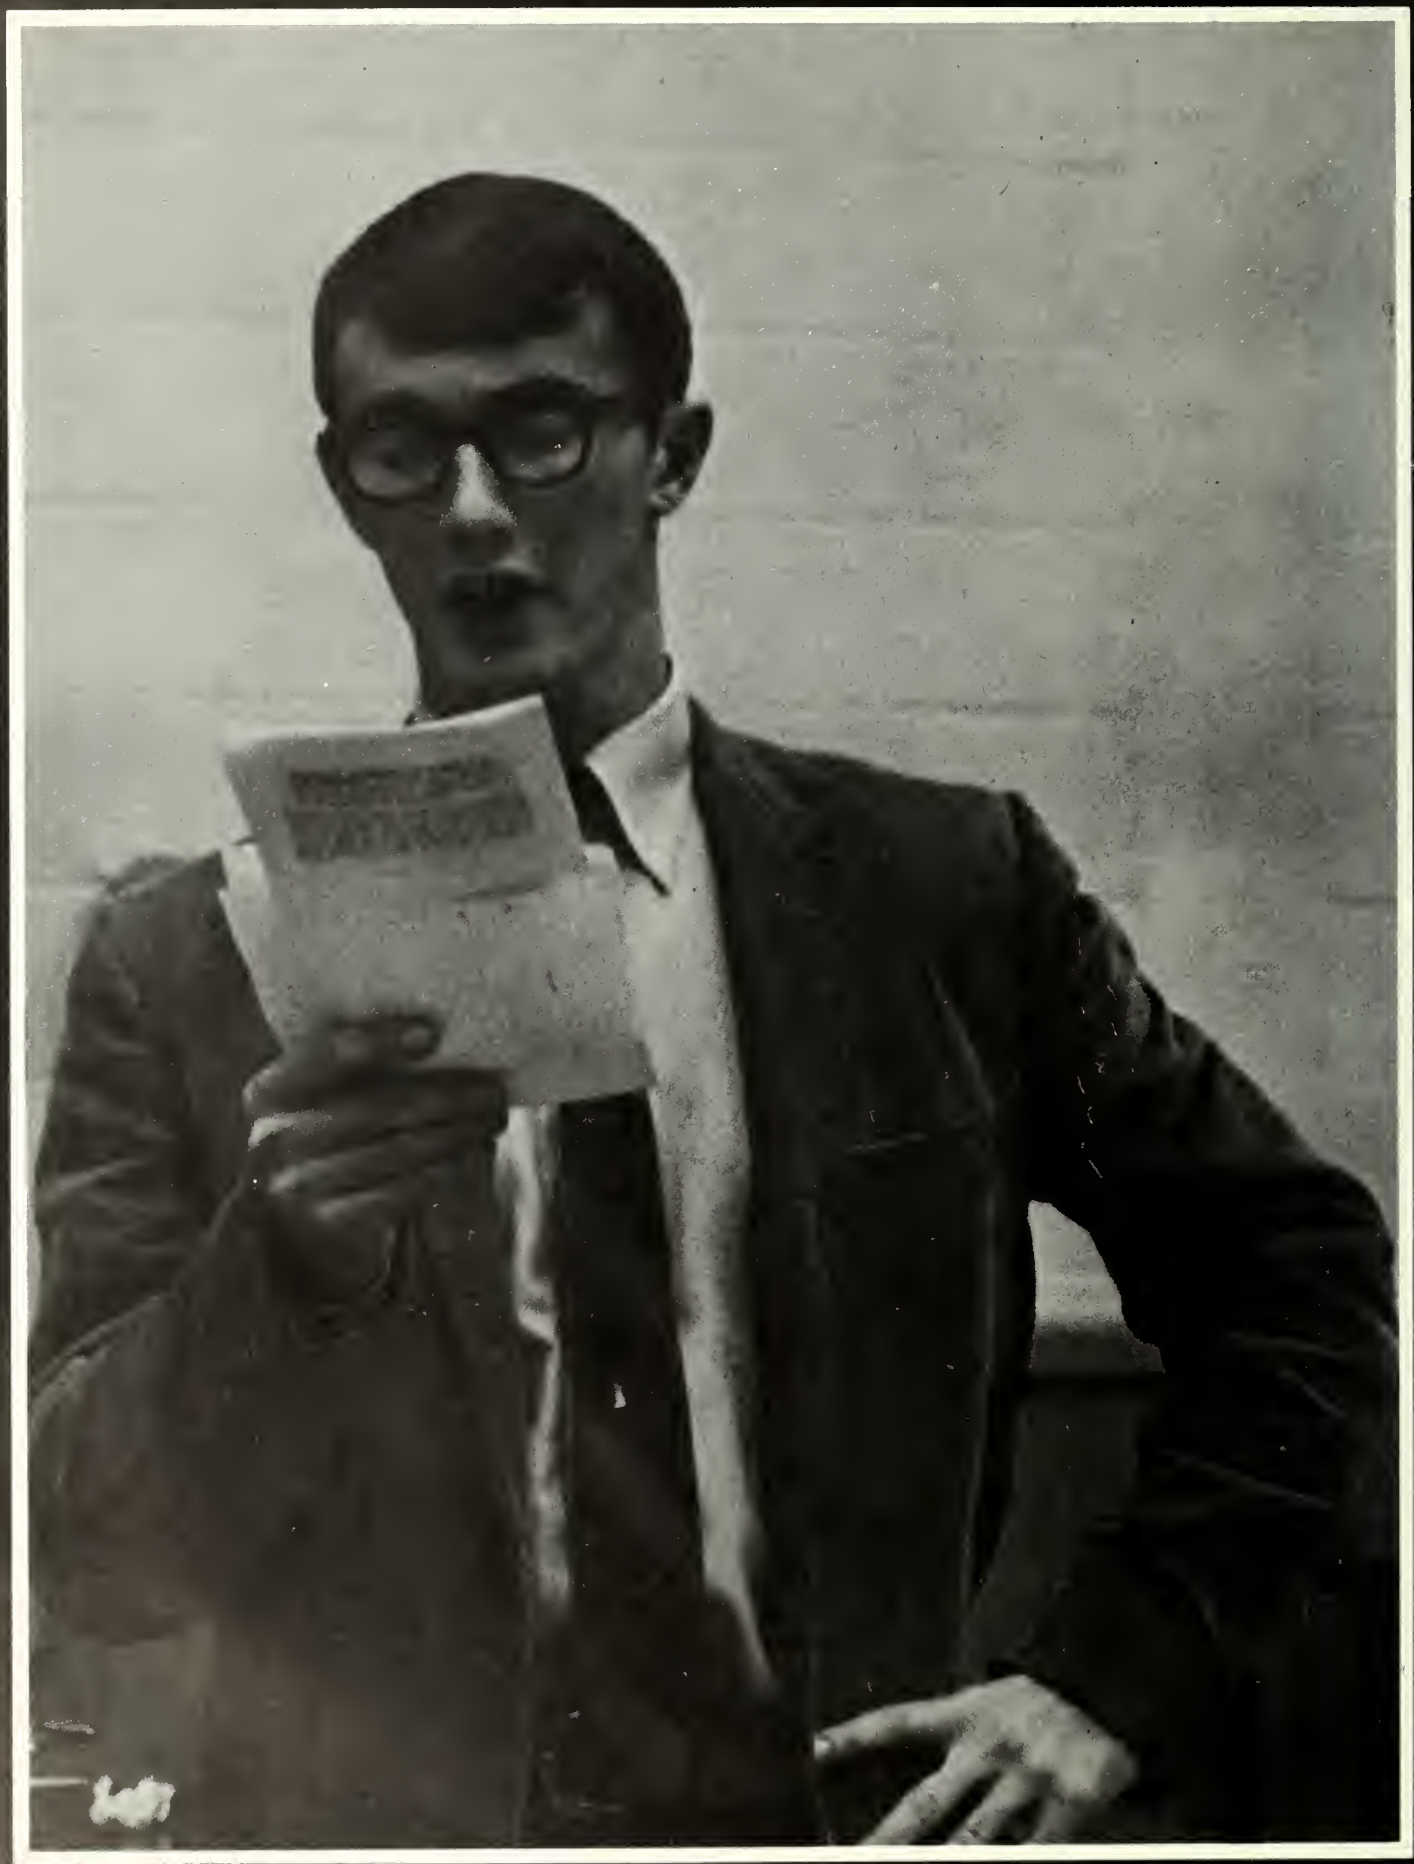
Lawrence Ferlinghetti

To-day is not yesterday; we ourselves change; how can our Works and Thoughts, if they are always to be the fittest, continue always the same? Change, indeed, is painful; yet ever needful; and if Memory have its force and worth, so also has Hope.

Thomas Carlyle

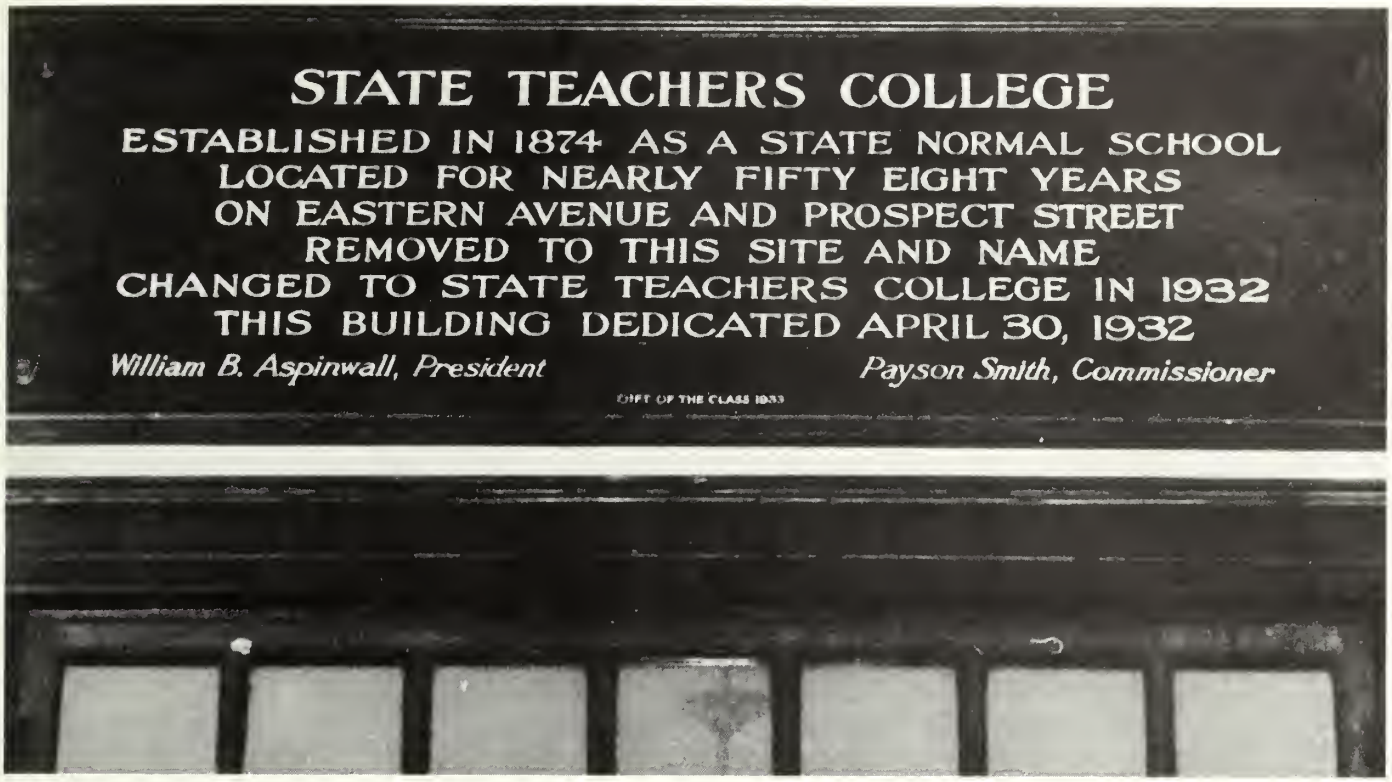
Independent

ΘP



Without ideals, without effort, without scholarship, without philosophical continuity, there is no such thing as education.

Abraham Flexner



STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

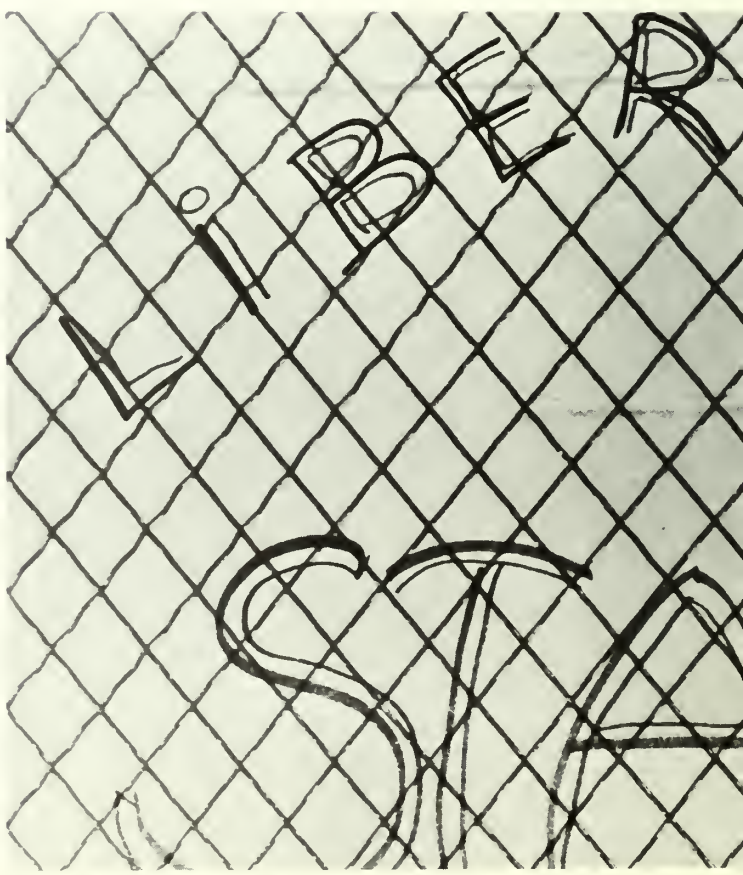
ON EASTERN AVENUE AND PROSPECT STREET
REMOVED TO THIS SITE AND NAME
CHANGED TO STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE IN 1932
THIS BUILDING DEDICATED APRIL 30, 1932
William B. Aspinwall, President
Payson Smith, Commissioner
GIFT OF THE CLASS 1933

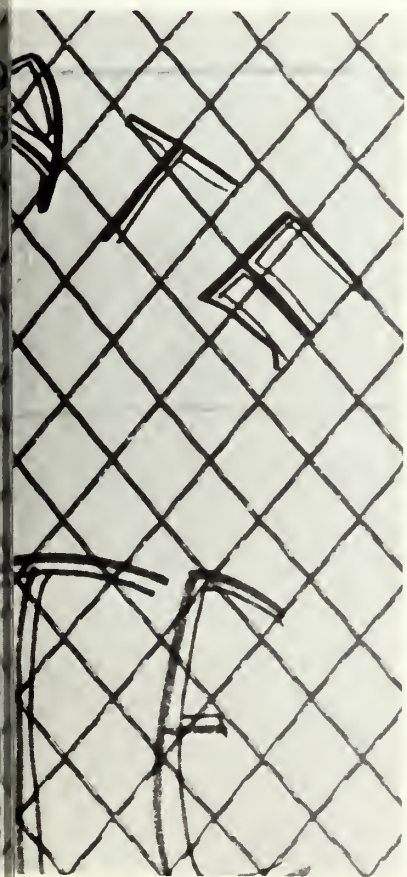
There is danger in reckless change, but greater danger in blind conservatism.

Henry George



Man is yet free, during his brief years, to examine, to criticise, to know, and in imagination to create.

Bertrand Russell



To know
Meaning to celebrate:
Meaning
To become "in some way"
Another; to come
To a becoming:
To have come well.

Harry Rago

I can't say whether we had more wit amongst us than usual, but I am certain we had more laughing, which answered the end as well.

Oliver Goldsmith

Laffing iz the sensation ov pheeling good all over, and showing it principally in one spot.

Josh Billings

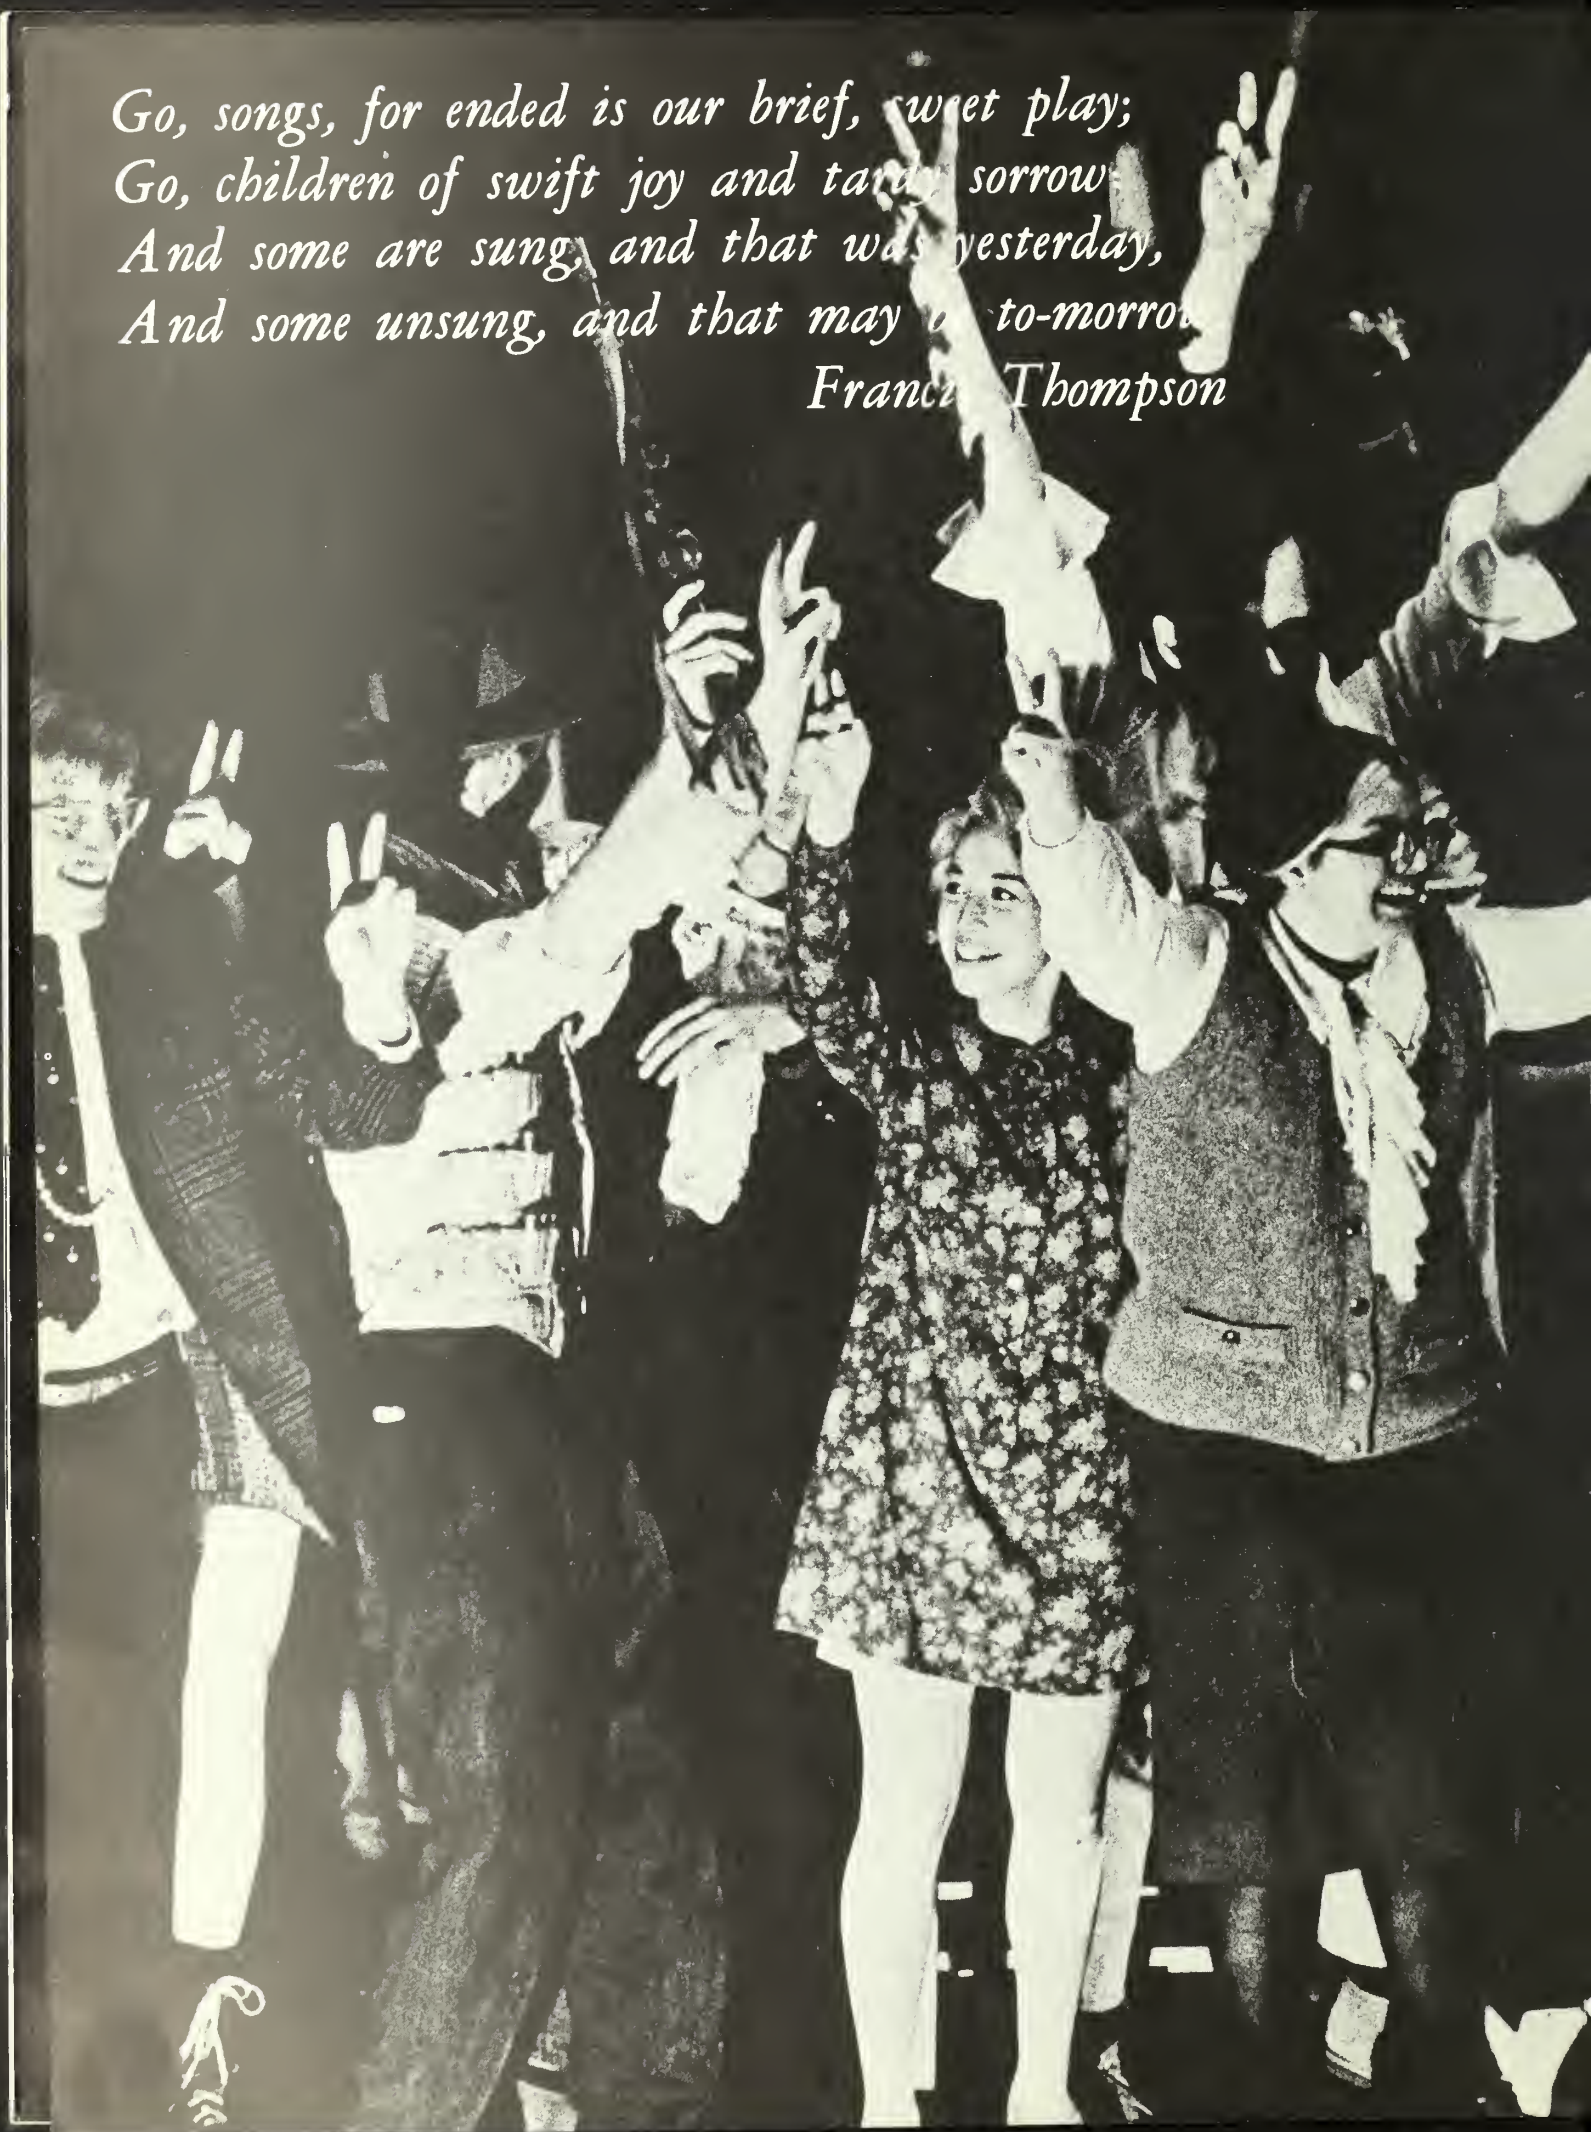
As men's faces smile on those who smile,
so they respond to those who weep.

Horace

As I being poor have only my dreams;
I have spread my dreams under your feet
Tread softly because you tread on my dreams.

When you are old and gray and full of sleep,
And nodding by the fire, take down this book,
And slowly read, and dream of the soft look
Your eyes had once, and of their shadows deep.

William Butler Yeats



Go, songs, for ended is our brief, sweet play;
Go, children of swift joy and tardy sorrow:
And some are sung, and that was yesterday,
And some unsung, and that may be to-morrow.

Francis Thompson

DR. EDWIN B. HEDMAN

"Three passions, simple but overwhelmingly strong, have governed my life: the longing for love, the search for knowledge, and unbearable pity for the suffering of mankind. These passions, like great winds, have blown me hither and thither, in a wayward course, over a deep ocean of anguish, reaching to the very verge of despair.

I have sought love, first, because it brings ecstasy—ecstasy so great that I would often have sacrificed all the rest of life for a few hours of this joy. I have sought it, next, because it relieves loneliness—that terrible loneliness in which one shivering consciousness looks over the rim of the world into the cold unfathomable lifeless abyss. I have sought it, finally, because in the union of love I have seen, in a mystic miniature, the prefiguring vision of the heaven that saints and poets have imagined. This is what I have sought, and though it might seem too good for human life, this is what—at least—I have found.

With equal passion I have sought knowledge. I have wished to understand the hearts of men. I have wished to know why the stars shine. And I have tried to apprehend the Pythagorean power by which number holds sway above the flux. A little of this, but not much, I have achieved.

Love and knowledge, so far as they were possible, led upward toward the heavens. But always pity brought me back to earth. Echoes of cries of pain reverberate in my heart. Children in famine, victims tortured by oppressors, helpless old people a hated burden to their sons, and the whole world of loneliness, poverty, and pain make a mockery of what human life should be. I long to alleviate the evil, but I cannot, and I too suffer.

This has been my life. I have found it worth living, and would gladly live it again if the chance were offered me."

from The Autobiography
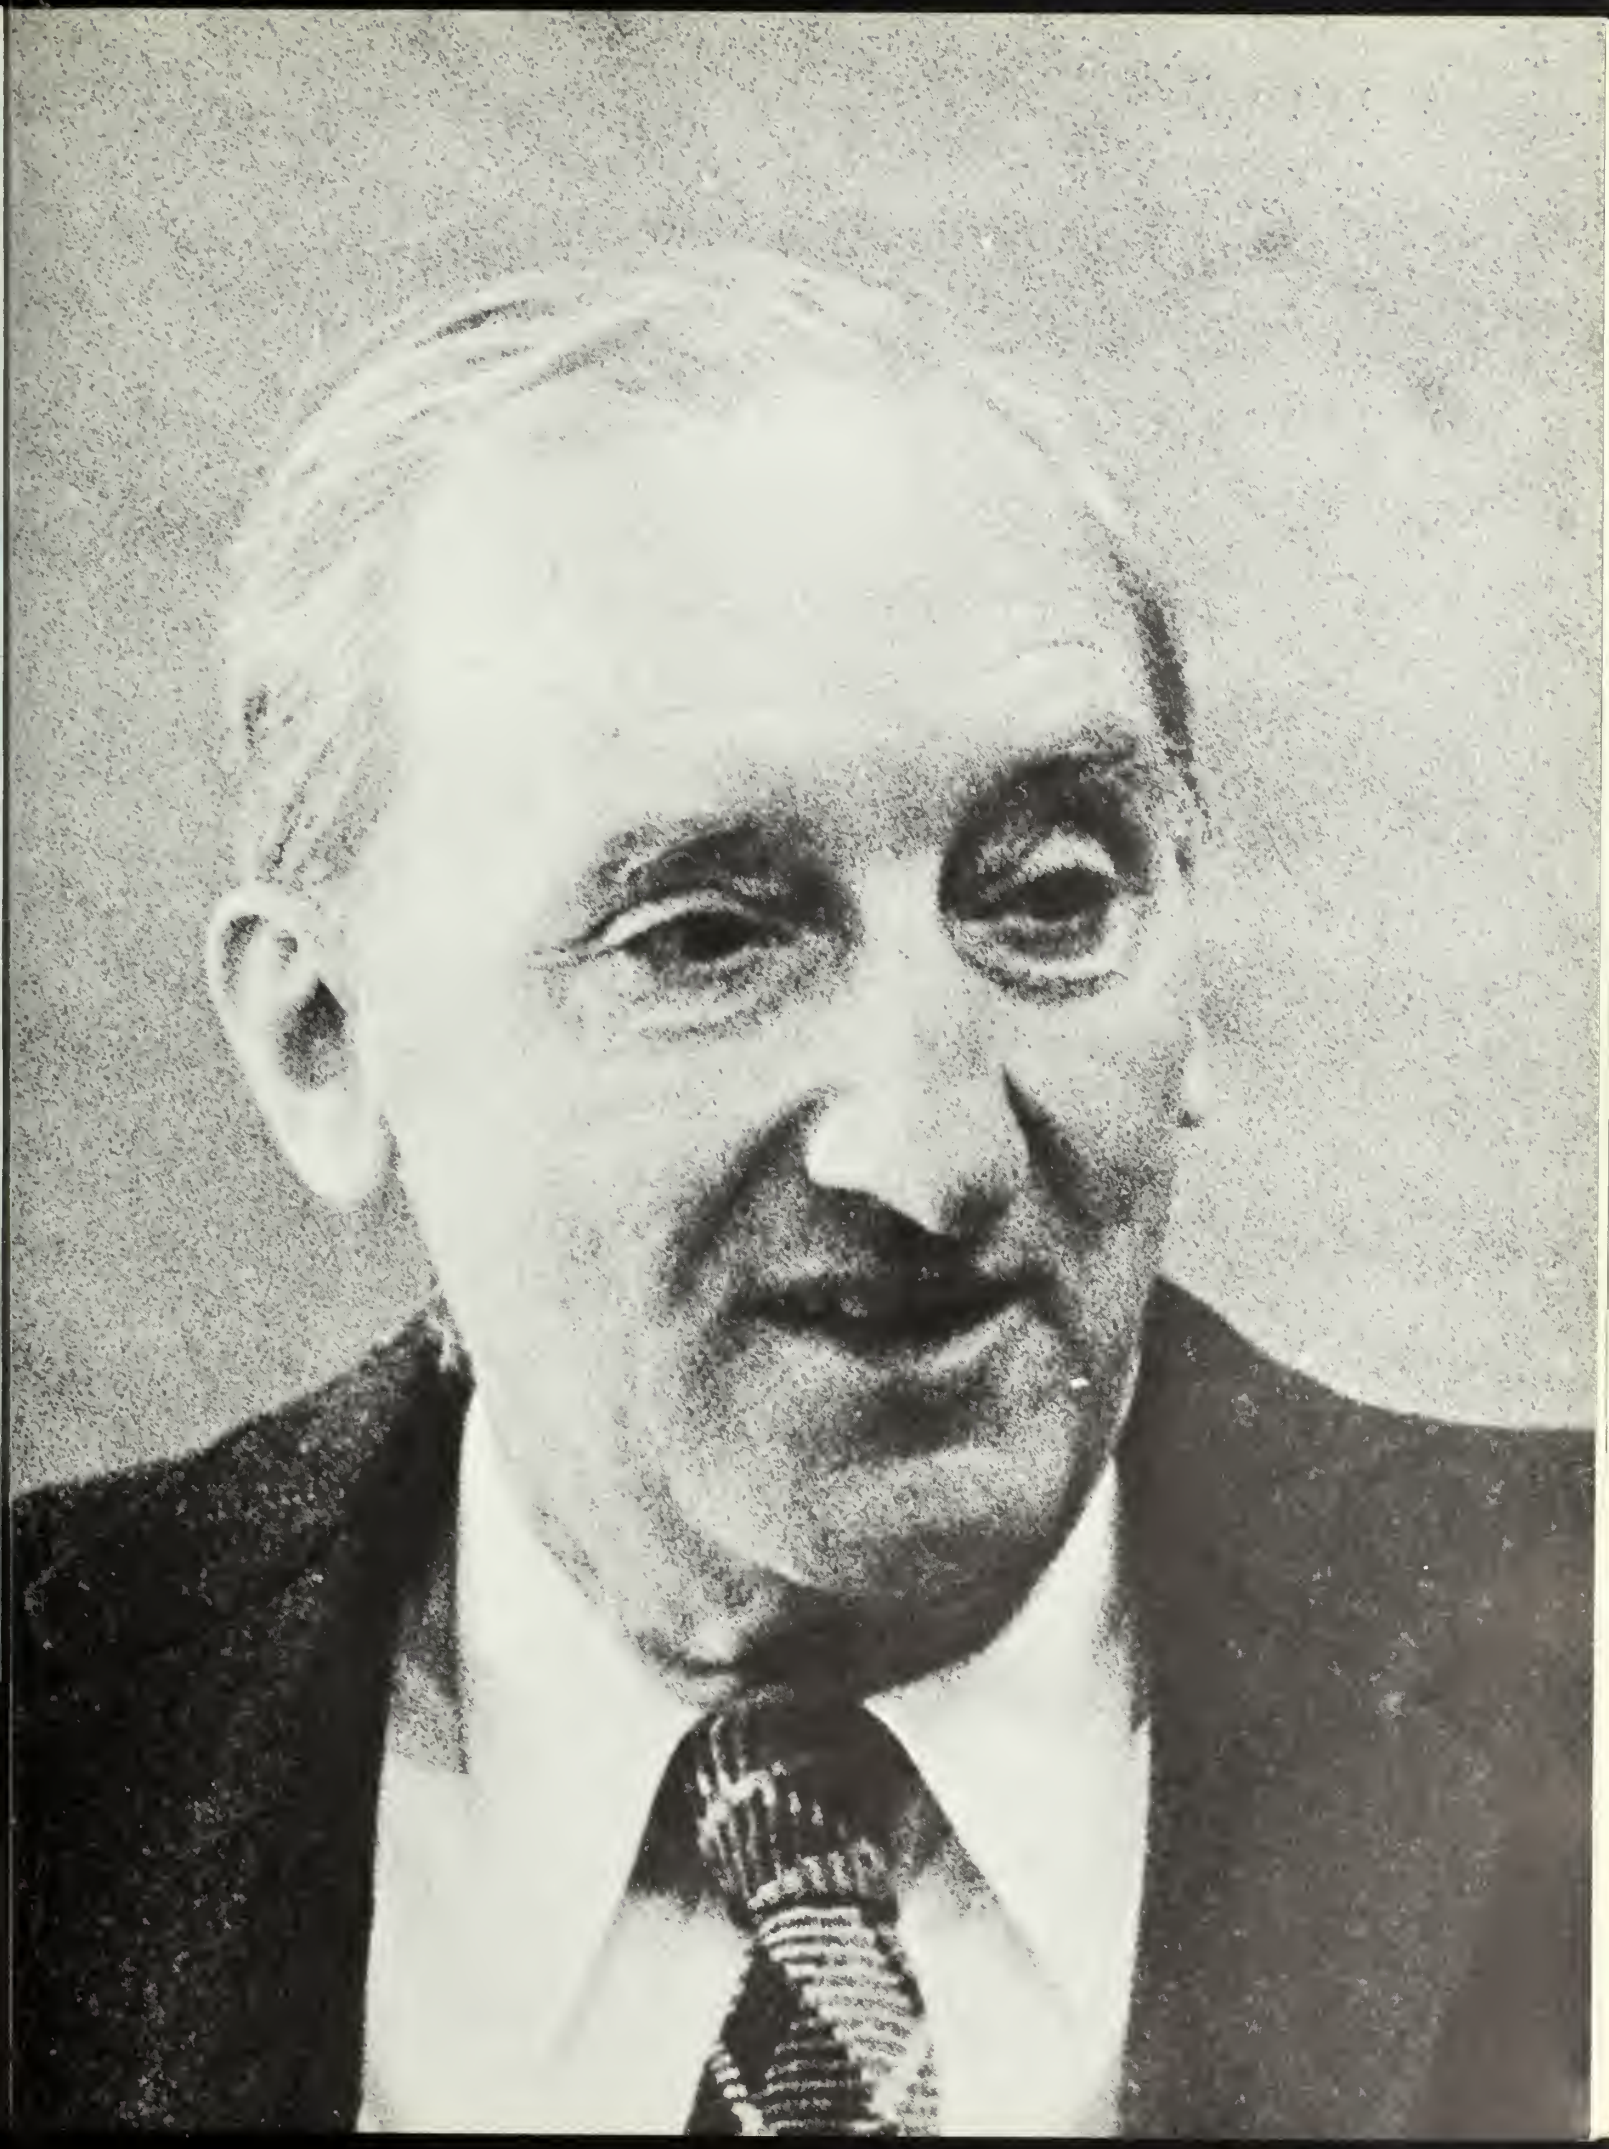
of Bertrand Russell



MR. ROBERT E. TODD

Having witnessed the first of many significant, deep-seated changes in the philosophy of the college, the Senior Class of '69 has attempted to incorporate into the yearbook this new sense of growth and freedom. We have chosen therefore, to dedicate this yearbook to Mr. Robert Todd, who has made a distinctive contribution to furthering the image of the college in the community.

An outstanding member of the English Department, Mr. Todd has brought the college's drama productions from the level of the annual high school play, to the most ambitious and contemporaneous of theater efforts. His intense interest in theater and enthusiasm for his student actors, coupled with his perception as a director, have produced many fine actors and actresses, who continue to play in this community and elsewhere.

Mr. Todd's classes are among the best attended. He gives something quite personal to his lectures, bringing the subject matter into immediacy with an informed sense of the contemporary. With his knowledge of theater techniques and acting, dramas from Sophocles to Albee become dynamic, living situations.

Mr. Todd has also made an impact on the intellectual community. His papers have been published frequently in scholarly journals and he is particularly eminent in the field of psychological criticism.

We would like to thank Mr. Todd for the sincere interest he has manifested in meeting the needs of the students in a period when faculty support is essential. We congratulate him on the formation of a drama department in the college, largely through his efforts. It would not be in error, we think, to credit Mr. Todd with making a significant start in changing the concept of Worcester State College to a liberal institution where students and teachers can find satisfaction and relevance in education.

. . . Wisdom is an abstraction to most people. It is an abstraction not because it is itself intangible; but because we make it so . . . We alienate ourselves from wisdom when we sacrifice our convictions to protect ourselves. We blind ourselves to wisdom when we fear change, solely because it contradicts tradition. We as individuals must consider our motives. We must continually re-evaluate our reasons. We must stand on the periphery of our great circle of life and take a good hard objective look at ourselves and our ideals . . . in this way may we continue to grow in spirit and in truth. These past few years have been a testing ground for our convictions . . . If we can adapt to the ever-changing world, and yet be uncompromising in our convictions—tempered by wisdom—we will begin to realize our full potential . . . Our share is proportionately larger than the others' because proportionately we have more to give . . . Let us dedicate ourselves . . . to tame the savageness of man and make gentle the life of the world. Let us dedicate ourselves to that and say a prayer for our country and our people.
